Col. Robert T. Kerlin, Is Deprived Of Professorship In Virginia Military Institute Because He Asked For

Justice For Elaine Men Condemned To Death.

By Frederick G. Detweiler

Associated Negro Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 31.—Colonel Robert T. Kerrin, who wrote to the Governor of Arkansas as an open letter published in the New York Times in which he asked for justice for the Elaine men condemned to death, has been summoned to appear from his professorship by the board of Virginia Military Institute of Lexington, Va. Col. Kerrin, who is doctor

For sometime, Professor of English at the above institution. He is known to colored people as the author of "The Voice of the Negro," a work setting forth the appeal to the nation made by the Negro Press; and also a member of the Interracial Committee of the State of Virginia. For several years, he has given himself without stint to the cause of racial justice, and there is not a man among the white group who has done so with finer idealism or truer spirit of democracy.

my open letter to Governor McKee regarding the cause of the condemned men in connection with the so-called "insurance" near Hoop Spur, Arkansas. The facts of the failure of the legal counsel, without witnesses, convicted and a most solemn appeal made to Magna Carta, the American Constitution, and the Bible itself.

In the letter Professor Kerlin wrote to the Governor of Arkansas, he stated that the Negro farmers of Arkansas had been indicted for the murder of whites as was shown in the trial before the Arkansas Supreme Court; that they had stoned themselves only after the

The convicted Negro farmers had been tortured by whipping and an electric chair during their trials to make them confess to the killing. They had waited in prison for the electric chair to be brought to them. The time will come when the world will find knowledge of this trial will be refuted by such Congo barbarity."

The Board of the Virginia Military Institute, a school that received part of its support from the government, demanded Professor Kerlin's resignation. Kerlin, a well-known Negro leader, was meeting held August 20, 1901, in Richmond. On his final day, he resigned the board automatically.

"It is the opinion of the Board that the perpetrators in the "Ethereal, Insuper-lim" cases as exemplified by his letter to the Governor of Arkansas reflecting upon the administration of justice in the case of the late Mrs.

Whitcomb, who died of cancer of the uterus from the serum drip, rests of violating the laws therein, the which connection the Board has considered his general activities in Intercasia matters. His endeavors his furthered connection with the Virginia MUSEum Institute, under-stand, and his endeavors to help the people of Virginia of promoting the beneficent work for which the Institute was established, would prove harmful and detrimental thereto, and embarrassing to those responsible for its conduct and manage-

—MARGO

It is understood that Professor Kerlin was very popular with the cadets, both at V. M. I. and among well-regarded officers of the Army, especially in England at V. M. I. since 1910. He was born in 1860. He held a M. A. from Central College, Missouri and also studied at Johns Hopkins University, University of Chicago, Harvard University and Ph. D. from Yale 1905.

He served as a Methodist minister from 1885 to 1898 and was a chaplain in the Third Regiment, Missouri Volunteer in the Spanish-American War. He is the author of "Maiden for the Lord," "The Life of the Third Regt."

The "Voice of the Negro" and several other books and is also secretary of the Virginia Society for the Advancement of Education.

Professor Kerlin will not be without friends in this experience who will stand by him to the last ditch. It is not Virginia we are sorry for, it is the lawless, lawless, lawless, lawless state so rich in American traditions. Why should Virginia and her soul be executing the crime of Arkansas?

The dismissal of Prof. Robert T. Kerlin, from the faculty of the Virginia Military Institute because of his sincere desire to see that all men was first introduced to the colored people of America through the Associated Negro Press, and his aim was to publish interest in the progress and development of the Negro through newspaper. He took on our magazine.

How Urban League of Provident Association Came Into Existence

The beginning of the Urban League goes back to the work of the Committee on Social Service among the colored people, who decided in 1912 that a thorough investigation of the local situation was the first step in outlining a constructive program of local race betterment. After an uneventful attempt on their part, they appealed to the School of Social Work, which appointed Wm. A. Crossland, then a fellow in that institution, under the direction of Dr. C. E. Johnson, to conduct a study of the colored people's needs. A committee was organized in promoting their industrial interests, that by 1915 through Mr. Robert S. Baldwin, then president of Sociology at Washington University, efforts were made to have the Committee on Social Service affiliated with the National Urban League, which program especially fitted the needs of the colored people. Accordingly, in the spring of 1918 when the shortage of men was at its peak, the committee decided to broaden the scope of its work and render more efficient service to the community. An executive secretary was employed and the name of the committee was changed to the Urban League of the St. Louis Division. The Urban League was then divided into four departments: the industrial, the neighborhood, the educational, and the recreational.

Industrial Department. Since the establishment of the Urban League, more than 20,000 people have come to the building in search of employment, information, and advice. During 1920, 12,000 (thirteen thousand) persons were induced to use members of our staff for the purpose of securing jobs. In addition, 10,000 (ten thousand) persons were induced to use members of our staff for the purpose of securing jobs. In addition, 10,000 (ten thousand) persons were induced to use members of our staff for the purpose of securing jobs.

Neighborhood Department. During the war period, when the newcomers from the South were unaccustomed to city life and did not regard punctuality, sobriety, and industry as virtues, the Urban League's day work of permanent help, welfare, and guidance was very important. In many of the industrial plants a large percentage of the Negro laborer was placed there. The league placed two such workers with three places. The league has also placed more than 3,200 Negroes among whom were the first colored girls used in the leather industry in St. Louis.

Recreational Department. During 1920, 12,000 (thirteen thousand) persons were induced to use members of our staff for the purpose of securing jobs. In addition, 10,000 (ten thousand) persons were induced to use members of our staff for the purpose of securing jobs.
